"A must-read for every baby boomer!" This true, crazy family adventure begins in 1969 and follows a widower and his five teenagers throughout multiple trials to find their home in the Pacific Northwest. Spanning four years, two states and four cities, this story of tough knocks and discoveries takes the reader back to a time when less was more and authority was granted to schoolteachers. A growing-up account that reminds us of the expression: "where there's a will, there's a way" accompanied by a musical soundtrack of top 40 radio hits from the early '70s that will make everyone sing along!
