Addressing critical real world issues for insurance lawyers, litigators and corporate practitioners, Interpretation of Insurance Contracts is your up-to-the-minute guide to practice in this burgeoning field. Nationally-known insurance law expert Jeffrey Stempel focuses on policy language - zeroing in on the finer points that can make or break your case - and provides detailed guidance to help you handle such specific problem areas as:

* Defining "total loss" to determine policy limits
* Applicability of valued policy laws to dwellings other than traditional single family homes
* Employment disputes, with particular reference to the intentional act exclusion
* Negligent delivery of professional services
* Professionals acting in nonprofessional capacities
* Regulatory estoppel and its effect on the "sudden and accidental" pollution exclusion
* Allocation of coverage
* Trigger of coverage
* D&O special apportionment issues
* Coverage for environmental claims
* Bad faith litigation
* The duty to settle and defend
* Fraud and excess insurance availability
