The Wall Street Journal Guide to the Top Business Schools 2003 Ronald J. Alsop
With the credentials of the world's leading business newspaper and the survey's unprecendented methodology, THE WALL STREET JOURNAL GUIDE TO THE TOP BUSINESS SCHOOLS 2003 is the essential guide for students, schools, recruiters and anyone else considering an M.B.A degree For years, prospective MBA students seeking guidance on which business schools to consider have had to rely on rankings with unclear methodologies, subject to the biased opinions of students and school administrators. Now comes The Wall Street Journal and Harris Interactive with the second annual edition of what has quickly become the single most important reference tool for prospective students, school administrators and corporate recruiters. Utilising a carefully constructed survey methodology and the extensive resources of Harris Interactive's online polling techniques, THE WALL STREET JOURNAL GUIDE TO THE TOP BUSINESS SCHOOLS shows students what corporate recruiters-the "buyers" of budding management talent-really think of the schools and their students. Each profile of the 50 top M.B.A programmes, as well as of the 50 runners-up, includes information on admissions, enrollment, test scores, the industries and companies most likely to hire the school's graduates, and graduate's expected first year salaries.
